Very Nice, Very Soft

Brand Story

Kosher Bamboo is not merely a brand extension. It is a larger project initiated with a small set of mainline tissue products – Large napkins, Personal hygiene tissues in pull-a-piece boxes and Restroom rolls – all made from all virgin and all and only bamboo pulp.

As a growing and responsible corporate, we intend to ascertain the virtues of Bamboo in exploring the feasibility and the advantages for progressively adopting bamboo as the primary and larger source for making personal hygiene tissue products. While it does exceed conventional wood pulp on the tissue characteristics; of water absorption, softness and functionality the objective of the project is to assess the larger environment and economic benefits that can be derived and the ideal model of operation to be able realize that in a large measure. In pursuing our study we intend to partner with befitting agriculture institutes and knowledgeable minds.

Beyond superfine tissue Kosher Bamboo provides consumers with satisfaction; of sustainable consumption, of enabling environment conservation, of belongingness to distinct class and a good sense of prestige.

We hope to construct altogether a new industry sector in India.

Manufacturing cycle

1.Planting bamboo in spring

2.Harvesting Bamboo plants

3.Cutting Bamboo into Strips and chips

4.Smashing the plant to make Bamboo Pulp

5.Mixing the pulp with water & chemicals to make Bamboo pulp slurry

6.Pulp is transferred to felt/ cylinder to dry the paper

7. Cutting and rewinding to make paper roll

7.Paper rolls are then processed via embossing, slitting, machines & finally packed & shipped for consumption.
